

Hello!
user1

hi
user2

how are you
user2

How's your day? I'm doing well!
user1

So, we're both democrats, right?
user1

Thank you! Yes I am close to middle but yes mostly democrat :)
user2

Hey, that's kinda where I stand as well. More liberal than a hardcore democrat, but I tend to vote democrat mostly.
user1

Yes me too. What do you think about financial aid to
underdeveloped countries?
user2

So the topic is who is more hypocritical between dems and republicans! I'm in favor of financial aid to underdeveloped countries.
user1

I think the chances of hypocrisy are mostly the same in both parties, to be honest.
user1

Yes maybe but, I think republican people has more tendency to it.
user2

Literally anyone can be a hypocrite. All it means is that you don't do what you say you will, and I think that's fairly endemic in both sides in politics.
user1

Yeah, I kinda agree, especially after the last republican president.
user1

That guy would say literally
anything.
user1

And then not do what he said...like 90% of the time!
user1

Yeah exactly what I am talking about.
user2

Just remember the Obama and his speeches and former guys spech.

user2

Yeah, Obama actually tried to do
the things he said he would.
user1

I guess I'm mostly thinking of congressmen when I say both sides
can be hypocritical.
user1

And mostly he did.
user2

Yeah.
user2

I think Biden is trying to do what he said he would, but it's difficult
when the opposition is so strong.
user1

Yes majority in the congress is a big problem
user2

For Biden
user2

Nothing like Trump though, who would actually say anything to get people on his side...worse than hypocrisy, just straight up lying.
user1

Hard to achieve what he promised
user2

Definitely.
user1

Trump is just the definition of populism.
user2

Say anything to maximize votes.
user2

Exactly!
user1

However, Trump isnt a typical example of a republican.
user2

Totally agree. He was an "outsider" or whatever...not a good look for
the party as a whole.
user1

He is much worse than a standart republican about this topic.
user2

Totally.
user1

Oh wow it's been ten minutes already?
user1

LOL
